Introduction

This booklet is all about you, a person living with Alzheimer's disease or other dementia.

Although you have a form of dementia, you are still the same person you have always been. This booklet is designed to focus on the positive: what you are good at rather than what is no longer possible.

You and your primary caregiver* know what makes you feel comfortable better than anyone. By answering the questions in this booklet, you will have a record of what makes you content and at ease that can be used when your primary caregiver cannot be with you and others need to provide care and support. Anyone can use this booklet to give you the best day possible now and as the disease progresses.

The first section of this booklet is designed to help someone new to supporting you get to know you better. It will also suggest conversation topics that may make you feel more at ease and contribute to more enjoyable times together.

Other sections of this booklet allow you and your caregiver to outline your usual habits: your daily routines, your likes and dislikes and what makes you enjoy each day. This information will help new caregivers maintain the routines that give you a sense of security, comfort and pleasure.

When completing this booklet, always keep in mind the main purpose: to give as clear a picture as possible of you to help others provide care when the person who usually supports you is unavailable.

To help others provide effective care, keep this book in an easy-to-find location. You and your caregivers can review it from time to time to note changes and plan for the future. There are replacement pages at the back that you can use to make any updates or changes.

^{*}The term "caregiver" is used throughout this booklet to mean anyone who supports you.

A typical day

Routine is important for all of us, but can be especially helpful for a person with dementia.

Writing down your daily routine will help you see how you spend your time and help others who might be providing care.

Try to look at your care through the eyes of someone who has never met you before. Do you like to sleep in, have a bath in the evening, or go for a daily walk?

Use this section to describe regular daytime activities. Include activities you are involved in as well as your caregiver. Include anything that provides pleasure, comfort, or something you particularly don't like.

Help with daily living

How much help, if any, do you need with routine daily activities such as dressing, bathing or getting in and out of bed?

The chart on the next page lists typical routine daily activities. Feel free to change the chart to include activities that apply to you.

Where you are able to be completely independent, write "no help needed." When you need help, note how much help you need.

The "Useful tips" section is a good place for caregivers to note the degree of stress the activity creates and what special approaches might be helpful.

Here is a sample chart to guide you.

| Activity | Useful tips | Is help needed? |
|---|--|------------------------------------|
| Tub/shower Usual time: 8:00 a.m. Twice a week | Prefer shower, don't like bath Enjoy music or conversation during bath time Give lots of time Respect privacy Be patient | Need help in and out |
| Dressing | Can button shirt, put on underwear and socks Need to take dirty clothes away immediately Can dress independently if clothes put on bed in right order Offer help tying shoe laces | May need help from time to time |

| | Alzheimer's disease and other dementias progress over time. As the disease progresses, your abilities will change. | | | | | |
| | The information in this section will help anyone supporting you know what these changes are and how they affect your mood, behaviour and abilities. Your caregiver can suggest ways that help you feel content, engaged, and secure. For example – Is there a special approach that helps? Does your behaviour change only at certain times? Are there warning signs? | | | | | |
| | Below are examples of common situations. | | | | | |
| | The term "family member" is used to mean anyone with dementia whom you support. "He" and "she" are alternated. | | | | | |

Alzheimer's disease follows a number of stages. While these stages can be somewhat predictable, the course of the disease will vary from person to person. Changes in physical condition, such as flu, pneumonia, infection, or constipation can often result in changes in mood and behaviour. By noting changes, the person who supports you may be able to determine a pattern and prevent a situation from getting worse. It is particularly important to keep a record when medications are used. Recording these items in a journal will help caregivers when they are talking with your doctor. Caregivers should take this "All about me" booklet to your appointments.

Anyone providing care can use these pages to record all the events in a particular day.
